"THE COLONEL."

A Fighting Irishman,

One of the most picturesque figures in Parliament for forty years passed away by the death of Colonel Edward Saunderson some twenty months ago. "The Colonel" was recognised as one of the most remarkable Irishmen of his time, and it is only fitting that his biography should be written. Mr Reginald Lucas, formerly M. P.

for Portsmouth, has undertaken the task, family, one branch of which settled in Ireland early in the seventeenth century.

He was born in 1837 and was the son of Aleander Saunderson, who shut up Castle Saunderson, and went to live abroad, for many years Nice was his headquarters, and here he settled in the Maison Cauvin, Rus Massensa, about the year 1846. A Mr

White accompanied the party as tutor to the boys but he only remained six months. To him succeeded a Jesuit priest. One cannot but feel some surprise upon learning the education of the boys was in such hands as these, so little does the association fit the religious character which distinguished their subsequent careers. The father made it a solemn obligation upon the tutor that he should attempt no influence upon his pupils' spiritual condition; but he, conceiving his duty to his church to override all other claims, speedily violated his promise, and so delivered himself up defenceless. It has been related by a friend of the family, who called one day at Nice, that upon entering the drawing-room he beheld a scene familiar in later days to those who went to the theatre to see "The Private Secretary." The three brothers occupied the sofa, armed with cushions, the tutor was crouching underneath, and no sooner did he attempt to escape than he back to cover.

was belaboured about the head and driven

This story is very characteristic of the wild Irishman, but it must not be supposed that Edward Saunderson was anything but a really religious man. On the contrary, he actually took to preaching, and was a

To him the spiritual communion was very close and very real. He once said that he never got up to make a speech without asking God to guide him-a confession confirmed by letters which will appear. Again, he ascribed the cheerfulness and good talk at his table to the fact that

But if this was the ruling impulse, he was indeed a "muscular Christian." Although he was not essentially robust in constitution be was physically strong in limbs and muscles. Among his various odd accomplishments he could hold out big chair at arm's length; he could sign his name on a wall with a 56lb, weight at tuched to his little finger; he could stand with his back against the end of an open astride, and sit there as comfortably as i he were in a saddle. When he was in the saddle his feats were no less remarkable.

He could pick an object off the ground at ed the exploit with complete success.

Liberal. At the time he was a captain in the Cavan Militia, which he had entered in 1862. He became major in 1875, end

Lieutenant-Colonel in 1886. In the House he soon became noticed for his debating powers, which were great, and also for his personality, which was always remarkable.

An anecdote gives a capital idea of his form, whatever he said is reported with punctuations of "langhter," "loud laughter," or "roars of laughter." It must be confessed that in cold print the provocation critic might sometimes deny a high standard of wit or humour; but here comes in the personal element. To illustrate this AUCTIONEER. to repeat, Nobody smiled. "Now that I tell it," he confessed, "it doesn't sound s bit amusing; but you get the Colonel to tell it." This was done; the story was narrated almost in the same words, and every one who heard it shouted with He was a sturdy and active opponent of THE Undersigned has received instruc-tions to Sell by Public Auction, Home Rule, and though the Nationalist hated him as a politician, they, too, seem TO-MORROW (SATURDAY), to have experienced his personal charm In the stormy period of 1885-1886 he the 15th August, 1908, commoncing at naturally often came into collision with 2.30 P.M., at No. 8, ICE HOUSE STREET, the premises known as THE CAMMON HOUSE HOTEL,-

It was at this time that a story went about to the effect that a nationalist mem-Order of The Supreme Court, for ber had said to Saunderson that they really admired him, and that if he would join their party they would give him a high VALUABLE FURNITURE, place. "Yes," said Saunderson, "with a nine foot drop underneath." Some years Double and Smale Bedsteads, Ward- later another Home Ruler expressed sur-ROBES with BEVELLED MINRORS, DRESSING prise at Saunderson's prejudice : separate TABLES, MARBLE-TOP WASHBYANDS, OVERgovernment would afford many chances of MANTELS, ROUND TABLES, TAPESTER COVER- a distinguished career, and he was sure to ED CHAIRS, VIENNA CHAIRS, Torrer Sers, come to the top of the tree. "Yes; hauled up with a rope round my neck." It would be fruitless to go into all the Parliamentary hattles of those days, although the Colonel's native wit illuminated many of those encounters. They are almost forgotten by the present generation, but there are many who remember Saunderson since the Home Rule debate days. To them the Colonel was better known in private life, and Mr Lucas' remarks on the subject will, therefore, be of interest to them. Mr Lucas was a firm and intimate friend of Colonel Saunderson.

and he writes-No better idea of a first impression of the Colonel in private life can be offered than an entry in a private diary; I therefore make VALUABLE HOUSEHOLD no apology for quoting again from mine. "January 27, 1893 .- Dined last night at Dunleath's. Edward Saunderson is staying there, in great form, and full of stories. He says he heard the late Lord ---, who was old and pieus, put to shame. He gave a tract to a young stranger, urging him to read it because doubtless he was a sinner.

> " Are you a sinner, too ? H' Alas, yes." "Then let me tell you that at your age you ought to be thoroughly ashamed of

I reminded him of an amusing speech I heard bim make in the House of Commons, when he called Labouchero one of the gargoyles of the Liberal party. L. rose to order and S. gave way. He says he did this too quickly, and L., detecting a trap, refrained. S. was going to explain that a gargoyle was defined in the dictionary as a grotesque gutter-spout.

"He was very Irish, and declared" there is no man Gladstone fears as he fears the expectant crowd with a shout of laughter, delighting in his discomfiture. There was little of the "cavernous eyes of the representative Cromwellian." In 1906 Colonel Saunderson was seized with a serious heart attack, to which his family were obliged to attach grave importance. HOW TO DO MORE BUSINESS

MANY AMERICANS have built up use of Trade-news items supplied by our CLIPPING BUREAU : Chinese mer chants can do the same if they follow American methods. We clip business news from more than 60,000 papers monthly, and send these items to you while there is good prospect of supplying what is needed and doing MOTOR DINGHY, carrys 5 persons We can send you news and clippings on any line of business, or any subject, and you will be able to know, IN TRUTH, just what American business methods are like, and where there are openings for Chinese Suppose, for instance, you are a maken 787 of Pottery: our Clipping Bureau might find in some paper an item saying that big wholesale Pottery concern was being organized in a certain town :-- we, o course, would send you that business-news item, and give you a chance to do business with that firm, Series of Articles on Sir Romans

We can do just the same in any line of business, for there is always something being on that it might pay Uhinese merchants to know. We can supply you with advertisements of all the great American merchants and manufacturors, so that you may assimilate their ideas and increase your business in China the way we do here. To svoid delay, send ten dollars (Mex.) for one month's trial order. Subsequent rate can be determined according to service. It won't cost any money to send for our fine Book which tells all about our service and how much it costs. Send for it to account of a colourless article which he wrote in a school magazine at Amsternot to go to Venezuela while the dictator's regime continued.

[Venezuela is a republic in South America, e asisting of 14 federal states and five territories. It is bounded on the north by the Caribbean Sea, on the south by Brazil and Colombia, on the west by Colombia, and on the east by the Atlantic ocean and British Guiana.

General Cipriano Castro, the President, is a native of El. Tachira, one of the Andine provinces; and almost pure Carib by birth. In the early-nineties he was sent to the Federal Senate at Caracas, and there snubbed for his uncouth provincialism. He returned to his ranch vowing revenge. After a brush with tax-collectors he raised was proclaimed President of the Andine Province. Towards the end of 1898, under President Andrade, he was called in by dissatisfied military leaders to bring about a revolution. This he did with the help of his Andinos, and with such success that he was proclaimed Andrade's successor, much to the disgust of the generals who had summoned him. The President of Venezuela has always in a general way been the owner of the country, but no one has owned it quite so completely as General Castro. He has annulled most of the concessions granted to foreigners by his predecessor, and has inflicted indignities on foreign residents. As a result his ports have been blockaded by many of the European Powers and he has perhaps received more ultimatums than any other man living. In April 1906 General Castro announced that he was abandoning power temporarily, but he seen made a triumphant re-entry into Caracas. The United States have some old scores against him which the uext occupant of the White House will-have to settle, unless the temper of the American people undically alters.-En. C.M.]

OFFICIAL GENEROSITY

AT THE CANTON BAZAAR. It appears that all the prominent officials in Canton have contributed to the funds of the Canton Bazaar. The Viceroy led the way with a subscription of 22,000. Li Tsun, the Admiral, gave $1,000. Yue, the Provincial Treasurer, gave $600. Shum, the Literary Chancellor, gave $300. Ting, the Salt Commissioner, subscribed $500. Indeed the subscriptions of officials, as published in a separate list, amount to $6,300. It is apparent from other reports that the Canton Bazzar has been an immeuse success and large sums are daily being gathered in for the needs of those suffering from the floods, and the typhcon.

It is understood that the cause of the mutiny amongst the soldiers commanded by Chan Chun Tak, at Tai Wong Kong, district officers' guard, several of whomwere killed. The soldiers who interfered for the protection of the merchants were all shot dead and then the Commander was killed and the whole city ransacked. THE MUTINY IN KWANGSL

The mutiny that broke out in the local garrison at Wongkong in the Kwangsi Province is being suppressed with great vigour, as it was feared that it might become the nucleus of further trouble. The mutinous soldiers seized their general and murdered him. They then turned their attention to several of the adjacent villages, and pillaged them carrying off everything portable. The mutineers are reported to number about two thousand strong. unless they are at once grappled there are suggestive possibilities hidden in the movements of such a disaffected gang. Li Tenn, the Commanderin-Chief of the Two Kwang, has sent three boats to render assistance. The soldiers are to take the matter in hand with all possible rapidity, and with the usual sternness that characterize the doings of the Chinese under such conditions.

The Cottage on the Fells, by H. de Vents

STACPOOLE. London, T. Werner Laurie. Readers of that exquisite idyll . The Blue Lagoon," will be somewhat disappointed, we fear, with Mr de Vere Stacpoole's latest novel. To begin with, it is written in quite a defferent vein to that othereal remance of the Southern Seas and though it is an uncommonly clever book it does not compare in point of literary finish with its predecessor. The story connected with the "Cottage on the Fells' deals with a peculiarly revolting murder committed in a lonley fell in Cumberland and so well does the author keeps his secret that it is not until the very last-chapter is reached that one gathers the true inwardness and significance of the many ramifications through which the reader has to wander in following the clue. HONGKONG OPIUM FARM.

Mr. Yoke Yew Interviewed at Kuala Lumpur.

There has been some further correspondence in the English press for the subject of the Hongkong Opium Farm, and in this connection a representative of the Malay Mail interviewed Mr Yoke Yew.

Mr Yoke Yew says that he is the Hongexception of Opium, Treasure and Valu- kong Opium Farmer and signed the Farm contract, but that there are others wh have an interest in the Farm. He further says that when in Hongkong he discussed Limited, Kowoon, and West Point Go- with the Governor the possibility of the Farm being terminated at a date prior to the termination of the contract. Whatever views may be held by other gentlomen in terested in the Farm, Mr Loke Yew's own personal views may be gathered from the following extract of a letter sent by him last month to one of the farm officials in Hongkong :-

> You will please reply that the statement was not true (that Mr Loke Yew had threatened to claim compensation) that I would be glad if the cpium shops could be closed, that if that were possible I expected a reduction in the Farm rental, nay that I 1122 | would be very pleased if the Government could suppress the opium traffic and abolish the Opium Farm altogether, that I would claim no compensation for it.

> > Not Stingy.-Hostess (in agitated undertone to "the new girl," who has appeared with the coffee in breakfast cups) "Mary, what are you doing? You know those are not the cups we use for coffee. Mary. " Well'm, I thought, seein' as you ad company, you'd like to give 'em something a bit bigger than thom little things.

the back was a cold which I caught that employers. night on deck "said Wr Nicholson. "The doctor diagnosed my trouble as Lumbago, but subsequently I found that the mischief was in the kidneys. I began to pass blood, and this was so severe as to cause me alarm. Whenever I sat down in or got up from a chair there were severe ripping or shooting pains in my back. At the same time my appetite dwindled away to nothing, I had harrible hondaches, it was impossible to got proper sleep at night because of the pains I suffered. My eyes, too, began to give me trouble and I had to leave off reading by lamp-light. There were dark rings under my eyes, I became exceedingly britable and downhearted, all I desired was rest, to get some ease for my everaching back.

"Well, when I landed in Bombay at the healthy appearance. In fact it was one of the above Estate. my friends who, seeing how unwell I was, recommended Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He said he thought they said date: were just the medicine I needed to put me

"I gave Dr Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and right thankful I am that I did so, for I found a change for the better in my condition almost at once. The passing of blood ceased, the pains diminished, my uppetite improved, my spirits returned, I began to feel my old interest in sport returning. After taking three bottles of these Pills there was no need for more as I was cured of all the symptoms of my

"Since then I have felt in perfectiondition, am a keen hockey player, take an Auction, active interest in dancing and whatever other recreations are going. It gives me pleasure to permit the publication of this testimony. In fact, on my recommendation several of my friends have taken Dr Williams' Pink Pills since my cure, and have been much benefited by them. I may also add that the temporary eye weakness -caused, doubtless, by the kidney trouble al away, and I can now read either by day-light or lamplight with perf st
